sengers, beginning with Frederick W. Puppe, whose wife and 7-month-old baby were lost when the ship sank, and ending with Carlos Quiros, chancellor of the Argentine consulate general at Washington. Tomorrow officers and members of the crew of the Vestris will be called.

Tuttle told reporters at the close of Tuttle told reporters at the close of today's session that he was not sure about the jurisdiction of United States courts in the matter, the Vestris being a British ship, but added that he was giving little thought to jurisdiction.

"What I want to find out," he said, "is whether charges are true that American citizens have lost their lives at sea through negligence. If anybody's negligence has cost the lives of American citizens those people will be called to account by this office. We'll talk about jurisdiction later."

First Witness Dramatic.

The first and most dramatic witness was Puppe. In a broken voice—choking up at times—Puppe told how he stood with his wife and baby on the sharply sloping deck of the Vestris Monday foremoon and anxiously scanned the horizon for "the steamers we were absolutely sure must have been called to solutely sure must have been called to our help."

"Suddenly, though we heard no orders and though no officers were in sight," he said, "the crew began to take down the lifeboats. You could see that none of them had ever even tried to lower a lifeboat before. They ran from one boat to another, taking things from one and putting them into another. I didn't realize what this meant, but later I discovered. At night, when we were out in the lifeboat, we saw that there were flares in some of the other boats, though ours were wet.

Denied Food for Baby.

"Then I realized what it meant when I saw men taking things from one boat and putting them into others. They were fixing a few with proper equipment, planning to ride in them themselves, and they winked to their friends to join them."

Puppe charged the ship's crew was an inefficiency which, he said, was inefficiency which, he said, was indicated first when they sailed Saturday and he was told that the steward in charge of his stateroom was drunk and continued right through to the long hours in the lifeboat, when, he testified, the occupants found sait water in the drinking casks. Revised Statistics on Vestris Disaster

(United Press.)

Ninety-three persons of the 327 aboard the Lamport & Holt steamer Vestris, which sank Monday, remained unaccounted for last night, according to revised figures.

Twenty-one bodies, the majority not identified, and 213 survivors have been landed by rescue ships. Possibility that any of the remaining 93 persons had been picked up by vessels without wireless and might be landed later was slight, and it was generally conceded that they should be numbered among the dead.

A tabulation of the survivors and known dead, by ships, on the basis of latest information, follows:

"Were any officers in charge of the lifeboats?"

"No, absolutely not. We shouted up to them to send officers down, we shouted we wanted somebody competent to take command but no officer came."

Puppe testified that, separated from his wife and child, he saw one of the word.

Waves Sweep Ship.

Herman Rueckert, of Leipzig, Germany, a first class passenger, gave a graphic picture of the way the ship lurched before the storm that struck it almost as soon as it got to sea. "At dinner on Sunday," he said, "there was a porthole that wouldn't close. "A woman was drenched and had to move to another table. The same thing hape pened there. Then the ship gave a great roll. Dishes went everywhere and one man was thrown under a table."

asked for it and was again told "get it yourself." He couldn't find any.
"Monday morning between 6 and 7 o'clock." he said, "I asked a steward why the engines had stopped That steward had the nerve to tell me that it was because we were using all our power for pumping."

The next morning he opened his cabin door to see a steward running by with a life belt on. "Should I also have a life belt?" he asked, and said the steward told him he might as well. That, he said, was all that was done by way of preparing the passengers to go overboard. He got into a lifeboat, but it leaked so much that he jumped out and swam to another, which was pressing us over on one side."

"No. All the explanation I got was what the steward said—that the wind was pressing us over on one side."
"Did you ever see the captain or any of the officers give any command to any one of the crew which was not executed?" asked Tuttle.

"Do over by the last the lant to be with a life belt on. "Should I also have a life belt?" he asked, and said the steward told him he might as well. That, he said, was all that was done by way of preparing the passengers to go overboard. He got into a lifeboat, but it leaked so much that he jumped out and swam to another, which was pressing us over on one side."

"Dold you ever see the captain or any of the officers give any command to any one of the crew which was not another. The boat he had been in sank. He said it was the roughest see he had ever experienced, and he had tarveled widely.

COAST GUARD QUITS SEARCH FOR BODIES

Further Hunt Futile, Is View; Destroyer Shaw Brings 13 Dead to Port.

MANY TORN BY SHARKS

New London, Conn., Nov. 15 (A.P.).—
Search for more bodies from the illfated steamship Vestris has been abandoned by Coast Guard vessels, according to officials here who, after receiving reports from the vessels which participated in the work, are convinced that further search would be futile.

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Taken from the ocean in the victinity of the grave of the liner Vestris, thirteen bodies of victims of the disaster today were brought to port on the Coast Guard destroyer Shaw.

Because of the battering they had received and the work of sharks, only four of the bodies were identified.
These were:

Mai Veshlo Inquive Januarese consul

Maj. Yoshio Inouye, Japanese consul the Buenos Aires, whose body was claimed on its arrival by two represen-tatives of the Japanese Embassy at tatives of the Japanese Embassy at Washington.

Carlos Franke, Mexico City, and his daughter, Ingebord, 22, and Frank Rigg, steward on the Vestris.
The other bodies were those of two negro women, two white women, one negro child and four men.
Four of the dead were taken from the water by the Shaw and ten were transferred to that vessel from the Coast Guard destroyer Davis which was running out of fuel. The Shaw was forced to throw one body overboard before reaching port because of extreme mutilation. One or two of the bodies were without arms when they were recovered from the shark-infested Guif Stream.

The three women said that the negroes helped them continually during the long, dark hours in the water and made it possible for them to hold on until succor arrived. The boat was again hoisted, the horizon anxiously scanned in every direction for more souls who had successfully fought is elements for twenty hours. We passed more wreckage, more bodies, one that of a young child, as we circled around and around and criscrossed the wreck strewn area but saw no living soul. The same dead bodies were passed time and time again. It was now too rough to lower boats without great they had in the water, the crew scrambling over a sea ladder. We continued anxiously to look for the living. As hour, piled on hour and as records of the rescued were checked, it became evident there were more than a hundred unaccounted for. New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—The Radio Marine Corporation today contradicted reports that Capt. Carey of the Vestris sent and then canceled a distress call several hours before ordering the general S O S that started a score of ships racing to his research.

Uncle Identifies Body Of Girl, Vestris Victim

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Authorities of the Sea View Hospital, Staten Island, tonight announced that one of the bodies brought by the destroyer Shaw from the scene of the Vestris disaster had been identified as that of Eleanor Parker, of Boston.

Identification was made by an uncle, George N. Parker, also of Boston.

"WASHINGTON'S LITTLE BACK ROOMS"

made a survey of Washington for The Post. It tells of the prevalence of the "speak-easy" in practically all sections of the city. The ease with which a "drink" may be obtained is outlined. Prices for various liquid commodities are given and compared to reported prices from other cities, Washington's dealers are very reasonable with their customers. Another startling development explained in "Washington's Little Back Rooms" is the analysis of the "hootch" sold in these places. Results of this analysis will be interesting to both wets and drys. This story is probably the most interesting and comprehensive survey of the Capital's "drinking situation" ever published. Don't miss it.

SANTA CLAUS EXPEDITION

Latest information on the whereabouts of The Washington Post's expedition to find Santa Claus will be found in the Sunday issue. Capt. F. E. Kleinschmidt and party, including Holly Berry, The Post's special correspondent, are in the Far North, seeking the home of Santa. They hope to bring him back with them to Washington, that all the boys and girls who write letters to The Post on "Why I Know There Is a Santa Claus" may have the opportunity of meeting the grand old man. Daily stories and pictures of the expedition are features of The Washington Post, while eight prizes have been offered for the best letters of 150 words on "Why I Know There Is a Santa Claus." These prizes are $20, $10, $5 and five prizes of $1. Children under 12 years are eligible to compete, and all letters must be in the hands of the Santa Claus Contest Editor by midnight, Tuesday, November 20.

"BIG NEWS" CONTEST

Helpful hints to students of Washington and vicinity, who have entered in The Post's "Big News" contest, will be incorporated in Sunday's story of this essay-writing competition. The first week closes Saturday, November 17, and Sunday will mark the inauguration of the second week of writing. Public school officials have come forward with words of praise for The Washington Post's campaign, because of interest aroused among students in the current events. Weekly prizes of $5 to each of two classes, one for grade and junior high school students and one for high school pupils, make the contest attractive to all boys and girls. The first quarter closes the week before Christmas, when a $20 prize will be given for the best essay of 250 words on the "Big News" submitted during the quarter. Essays must be submitted by Wednesday midnight of the week following that for which essays are written.

Surprised by Gambling Joint.

In the final hearing at the last session Gilbert told Maj Hesse that newas appalled at the large number of gambling houses in the city and that he expected to see the situation corrected when he came back.

Maj Hesse testified at that time that there were probably 200 gambling "joints" in the city, most of them small ones of the hole-in-the-wall Wariety Hesse made this admission after an investigator of the Bureau of Efficiency had displayed a map showing the location of a number of gambling places.

What the Bureau of Efficiency has done about investigating the Police Department in the last few months, if indeed, it has done anything, is not known.

Hears Views of Representative Hull; Continues Work on Good-Will Trip.

ITINERARY STILL DELAYED

Stanford University Calif., Nov. 15 (AP.).—Herbert Hoover was immersed in the work of completing preparations for his good-will trip to South America today, and laid it aside on'y to receive some of the well wishers who called upon him Among these was a delegation of classmates of the Presidentelect at Stanford University in 1895. ost of them now San Franciscan business men. The group, more than a dozen strong, was headed by former business men. The group, more than a dozen strong, was headed by former Judge George E. Crothers, of San Francisco, and Thomas K. Code, the first quarter back Stanford University ever produced.

Another caller during the day was Representative W. E. Hull, of Peoria, Ill., who called to convey his congratulations. Hull traversed the same route through South America a year or so ago as will the President-elect, the Illinois representative having been a member of a commission appointed to study and aid in the promotion of good roads on the Southern Continent.

In addition to discussing the forth-coming South American trip, Representative Hull talked to Mr. Hoover for some time concerning inland waterway development, especially the Great Lakes-to-the-Gulf waterway, and the proposed St. Lawrence outlet from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic.

Hoover dealt with these matters in several of his campaign speeches, indorsing both projects, and declaring for a coordinated system of inland waterways as one element in the general farm relief program which he outlined first in his acceptance speech, again in his West Branch, Iowa, speech, and finally in the last set address, that at St. Louis, on his campaign drive across the continent to his home here to vote.

Between callers, the President-elect worked away at the multitude of details that must be cleared away before he leaves Palo Alto Sur ay evening for San Pedro, to board the battleship Maryland, for his voyage.

An additional batter of typists has been put to work getting out the thousands of replies that still remain to be made to letters and telegrams that continue to pile into the Hoover residence by every mall and over the special telegraph loops that have been set up.

TALY PUTS POWER IN FASCIST COUNCIL

Body, by Senate Measure, Is Part of Government; Has Voice in Succession.

19 OPPOSE GRAVE CHANGE

Rome, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—The Italian Senate today passed a government bill giving constitutional status as an ele-ment of the government to the grand council of the National Fascist Party. The vote was 181 to 19, with two ab-stating.

Fremer Mussolini in a brief speech declared that the bill should and will give to all Italians, and to all the world, the sense of the unshakable stability and limities duration of the regime which is striving ever to make the fatherland the greater." He received an ovation on the conclusion of this sentiment.

Mussolini also said that the bill had given rise to "some respectable and comprehensible hesitations and likewise to some oblique manoeuvers and stupid vociferations."

Claims Reval Approval.

He argued, however, that the six years of loyal governing by the Fascist party had put the regime above all suspicion "in all of its men and in all of its political, military and syndical expressions." He emphasized the perfect loyalty of the party to the regiming dynasty, saying:

"When his majesty, the King of Italy, as chief of the state, lighted in the Chapel of E-logna the votive lamp which the Fascist had dedicated to the black shirts who fell in the movement to create the present regime, he accomplished au act whose elgnificance spoke for itself."

The 19 senators who voted "no" on the proposal were Paterno, Federico-Ricci, Ruffno, Stoppato, Valenzani, Vigliani, Volterra, Wolfemborg, Zurelli, Abblate, Albertini, Bergamasco, Bergamini, Bollati, Casati, Croce, Cornagola, Diena and Dellatorre. The two who abstained from voting were Senators Decupis and Francica-Natva.

Wagner's Innocence Upheld in Dry Case

Five Convicted of Maintaining Nuisance in New York Cafe.

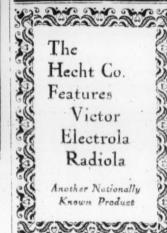

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—A Federal jury today convicted Luigi Cardi and four other men on a charge of maintaining a nuisance in a Greenwich Village restaurant, for which a witness said he had been told United States Senator Robert F. Wagner was the "March."

"fixer."

Sentence was deferred until Wednesday. The jury recommended clemency and acquitted the five men on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal prombition law. The maximum penaity for maintaining a nuisance is one year in prison and $1.000 fine.

Before the case went to the jury Norman J. Morrison, prosecutor, declared in summing up that Senator Wagner unquestionably was innocent of any wrongdoing or knowledge of what went on at the place. Senator Wagner previously had testified at his own request, and characterized as "an absouest, and characterized as "an abso-ute lie" the allegation that he had any onnection with the resort.

FAILURE OF THE HUMAN ELEMENT.

Man seeks and attains approximate perfect tion in the development and use of his machines. But machinery at its best performs a perfunctory service and can not be relied upon to exercise any degree of human judgment. There never has been, and never will be, devised a machine capable of thinking, nor will machinery ever transcend the human element in the exercise of any matter of judgment. Ships are built with all inventive skill to safeguard them from the perils of the deep. Radio has been provided as a precautionary and emergency safeguard against loss of life at sea. But the human element in the control and operation of ships and the safeguards provided for emergencies determines the fate of life placed in peril of disaster.

The loss of life in the sinking of the Vestris can not be attributed to the failure of mechanical means provided for the safeguarding of human lives, but must be attributed to the fallibility of the human element, the everpresent hazard in the scheme of all human endeavor. It does not follow, however, that the captain and officers of the Vestris were entirely to blame.

On November 7, the Vestris was inspected by a Federal agency, the Steamboat Inspection Service. Laws governing steamship inspection specify that a vessel registered in a country the inspection laws of which approximate those of the United States shall be subject to no inspection other than necessary to satisfy the local inspector that her boilers and lifesaving equipment are as stated in the current certificate of inspection. The Vestris, however, carried no current certificate of inspection, so she was subjected to the regular United States inspection. She was found to be fully seaworthy. The hull, the tail shaft, the propeller, and the life-saving equipment were certified to be in good condition.

If, as the survivors report, the lifeboats leaked, or that hatches and ports were in poor working condition, or that lifeboat tackle was not capable of letting the boats easily into the sea, the inspection three days prior to sailing was not properly made. Here was failure of the human element. If these charges are groundless, and the loss of life is to be attributed to the mishandling of equipment by the crew, the charge still must be failure of the human element.

The Honorable Company of Master Mariners, of London, has protested against what it calls the wild and inhuman injustice that is being done to the late master of the Vestris by section of the United States press. No authentic account of a disaster of this kind, it says, can be available until an official inquiry is held. Until then, it beseeches in the name of common fairness that reason prevail.

Unfortunately it appears improbable that a satisfactory inquiry will be obtained. The chief exhibit, from a careful study of which it would have been possible to fix the cause of the disaster, lies at the bottom of the sea. There remains to be heard the story of those who were precipitated into tragedy, but as is usual in cases of this sort there will be conflicting stories. It will be said that Capt. Carey erred in judgment when he waited until the last moment to summon assistance. In his defense, however, it can be said that he had reason to rely upon the accuracy of the inspectors certificate as to the seaworthy condition of his vessel. He expected to get his ship out of her difficulties without outside assistance. The human element proved fallible.

The fact is no longer disputed that a shifting cargo was the original cause of the list. The cargo, however, was stowed by experienced stevedores, and the manner of stowing was approved by the inspectors. The fact that the cargo shifted is further evidence that the human element was fallible. The findings of the boards of inquiry should prove valuable in pointing out ways to guard against future disaster.

A TAX ON BUS MILEAGE.

It is suggested that a tax of 6 mills per bus mile be levied upon all buses operated within the District of Columbia. The tax is proposed in order to equalize the tax charged upon buses operated by private companies with that charged upon buses operated by the street car companies. The former pay only the so-called fitney license fee of $9 a year, plus personal property tax upon their equipment. The street car companies, however, pay also a tax of 4

One of the reasons why bus companies have prospered is that they have not had to maintain an expensive right of way. The community does this for them; they operate upon streets built of taxpayers' money to which, of course, they contribute a share. Whether or not that share is equitable, however, is debatable, for buses cause more wear and tear | 75,000 this is altogether too large a price to current use on the lips of men.

pay proportionately no greater tax than the

It should be remembered, of course, that the gasoline tax, predicated upon the assump tion that the amount of gasoline consumed measures to a fairly accurate degree the use made of highways, and hence stands as the only equitable method of raising moneys for highway construction and maintenance, does not pass the bus operator by. Only buses operated in interstate traffic, whose supplies of gasoline are loaded outside the District, evade this tax. In the local case, however, the street railway company, in addition to its other taxes, also pays the levy upon the gasoline which its buses consume.

The matter of levying a bus tax based on bus miles operated demands serious consideration. If it would equalize the levies made upon all local bus operators it should be adopted.

BULL MARKET CYCLES.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres' analysis of bull markets is interesting, but not conclusive Writing for the bulletin of the Cleveland Trust Co., of which he is vice president, he calls attention to the fact that since 1879, when the country returned to the gold basis, there have been twelve well defined security markets. The duration of each was about two years, one having lasted 19 months, one 21 months, two 22 months, one each of 23 and 24 months, two of 25 months, one of 26 months and two of 27 months. The present market, he points out further, has lasted exactly 24 months.

Col. Ayres warns that the fact that all bull markets for industrial stocks in the last 50 years have lasted only about 2 years does not indicate necessarily that the end of the present one is to be expected in the immediate future. Many, however, will take exactly that view. Financial history, it is frequently said, repeats itself with more certain regularity than any other, and although of recent months many instances to refute the assertion have developed, there still remain a large group of statisticians who base their predictions only upon past rends and cycles.

Indications warrant the presumption that the resent bull market will continue indefinitely. Col. Ayres points out that production of automobiles, the output of steel and the volume of business construction are almost certain to be greater in 1928 than ever before. Almost all stock market records already have been shat tered, and it is entirely probable that the largest holiday trade in the experience of the country lies just ahead. Hundreds of business ecords bid fair to be raised to new and higher levels by the time 1928 ends, the most important being that the aggregate of industrial profits promises to be larger for 1928 than for any previous year. Thus prosperity bids fair to increase, particularly since the new administration will continue present policies.

A TRADE UNION COMEDY.

A harmless hobby of Winston Speacer Churchill, chancellor of the British Exchequer, has led to a serio-comic embroilment which has contributed its own share to the gayety of nations. It appears that Mr. Churchill, in those leisure moments in which he takes time off from his active guardianship of the finances of Britain, has been indulging in the practice of bricklaying at his home in Westerham, Kent This laudable pastime came to the knowledge of one J. F. Lane who, in addition to being Mayor of Battersea, is also southern counties divisional secretary of the Amalgamated Union of Building Trade Workers. Thereupon Lane suggested to Churchill that he should become enrolled as a member of that organization Some correspondence followed, and the upshot was that Churchill paid his entrance fee and received his trade union ticket.

The whole thing was, apparently, regarded by the participants in the light of a good joke. It assumed a more serious aspect, however, to the minds of many members of the union, and a whole torrent of resolutions protesting against Churchill's admission poured in or the executive council. That body officially de clared that Churchill is not eligible for membership, and that technically he had not been received as a member, because the admission form had not been properly completed and the check for 5 shillings, tendered as entrance fee, had not been paid into the general fund of the union. To its declaration the executive council added a comment that members ought to view the whole affair in the lighter vein in which it was intended.

There the matter might have rested, but Churchill has introduced a complication by standing on his rights. He says that, if he ac cepted expulsion, he might endanger the position of other members of the union who, once they are admitted, ought to have guarantees against being turned out for political reasons. He is also afraid that it would prove injurious to the union if the validity of the signature and authority of the responsible officers were brought into question. He asks, therefore, for further consideration of the case and for the publication of the correspondence. That was the status quo according to latest advices.

This is a story without a moral-unless the noral be that the British Amalgamated Union of Building Trade Workers is a very serious body, and that no hanky-panky, in the form of humorous stunts, may with impunity be prac-

SAFETY OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Officials of Franklin School and representatives of the parent-teacher association of that district have set themselves the task of eliminating, so far as possible, fatalities and serious accidents among school children. The movement could well be extended to every school of the city and be brought to the attention of every home from which school chil-

Need for a safety program in the schools can be immediately seen from the fact that ten children under 14 years of age were killed in traffic accidents during the first ten months of 1928. Most of the fatalities occurred during the school months when children are so frequently in the streets en route to and from school buildings. During the same period 556 children were injured, many of them seri-

From a school population of approximately upon street surfaces than pleasure cars and pay for carelessness and lack of instruction.

Nearly all accidents are preventable. The program adopted by the school officials and parents includes arousing of public sentinent, better instruction in the homes, inspection of playgrounds, safety conferences in the schools, special study of safety by the citizens' associations and cooperation of the newspapers. A safety campaign throughout the schools of the city along these lines should result in a great reduction of casualties among pupils.

One of the most effective safety plans being ried by many city school systems in various parts of the country is that of the junior police. Washington has junior police officers in some of its schools who deal specifically with traffic safety with considerable success. The plan should be extended to all schools.

Responsible boys of the upper grades are hosen for the duties of junior police officer. They are charged with the task of preventing accidents of all kinds, especially among the smaller children, and their duties include helping the little tots across streets with heavy traffic, supervision of play, reporting of all violators of school ground regulations, and instruction of their fellow students in safety measures. Many cities authorize these junior officers to stop traffic while groups of children cross dangerous intersections, and they have become invaluable aids in solving the traffic problem about the schools.

Perhaps the greatest benefit of the junior police system is the fact that it sets the children to thinking of safety. The young officers are a constant reminder to children that they must be careful wherever there is an element of danger. And the fact that the rank of junior officer is considered a high honor among pupils-an honor that can be attained only by the closest observance of safety rules-is a stimulus in the right direction.

A RADIO UNIVERSITY.

The Pacific-Western Broadcasting Federa ion has been granted a construction permit by the Federal Radio Commisson for a $2,000. 000 50,000-watt broadcasting station to be located in Orange County, California, about 40 miles from Los Angeles. Work will be started forthwith, and it is expected that the new station will be able to go on the air in about eight months. The fact that the commission, busily engaged in reducing the number of breadcasters, has seen fit at this time to Issue a construction permit for a 50,000-watt station, commands attention. The Pacific-Western Broadcasting Federation, however, plans a new type station that, according to its sponsors promises to make "a significant contribution to 'public convenience, interest and necessity.'

The federation has brought about the integration of various organizations of education and culture, including universities, colleges. federations of women's clubs, parent-teacher ongresses. State boards of education, community chests, library associations and civic groups. Its board of directors is composed of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, of Stanford University; Dr. Walter F. Dexter, of Whittier College: Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, of Mills College, and Dr. A. Blaisdell, of Clarenont College. The station will be financed by cooperating stations from the income of an endowment fund and by annuities of interested persons. It will broadcast music, material having to do with art, the drama onsectarian religion, and high-class entertainment, but it will specialize in adult education, public school instruction, special in elligence and discussions of public problems.

These are the functions of the university and the new station is the first genuine university of the air, designed, constructed and ledicated to this primary purpose alone. The ponsors are opening a fertile field, but it renains to be seen whether or not the public will respond to the idea. The new station, in order to succeed, may make necessary the development of an entirely new method of proram presentation

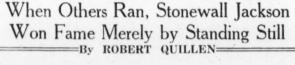

With the renewed national aspirations of Scotland which, after a long period of gestaand to press sturdily for recognition in a very definite and concrete way, the ancient form of the Celtic language used in North Britain is also attracting attention, and energetic efforts are being made to revive it as a spoken and written vehicle for the communication of thought. The champions of this at one time well-nigh obliterated speech have taken heart of grace from what they have seen done in recent years for the preservation of the kindred languages employed in Wales, in Brittany and in parts of Ireland.

Other patriotic Scotsmen are clamoring for the renewal of that type of English which was formerly so extensively used in the Lowlands. Among the oldest literary monuments of this early language is the long epic poem, known as "The Bruce," composed by Archdeacon Barbour, of Aberdeen, about the year 1377. Other early employers of it for the purposes of poetry were King James I, William Dunbar, and Gavin Douglas, and, in more recent times, Robert Burns. It is a very quaint but a very effective medium of expression. It is sometimes called Inglis, but since the days of Gavin Douglas. one of its worthiest exponents, it is frequently called Scottis, because he gave it that rather appropriate name.

By his long allegorical poems, "King Hait" and "The Palace of Honour," and still more by his verse translation of Virgil's "Aeneid," Douglas did much to popularize the "Scottis" vernacular. His birth and position gave him great influence. One of the sons of Archibald Bell-the-Cat, fifth Earl of Angus, he had a checkered career, but he ultimately rose to be Bishop of Dunkeld. In "Marmion" Scott thus describes him as he appeared at Tantallor Castle:

Amid that din and smoky light Chequering the silvery moonshine bright,
A bishop by the altar stood,
A noble lord of Douglas blood, With mitre sheen, and rocquet white;
Yet showed his meek and thoughtful eye
But little pride of prelacy;
More pleased that, in a barbarous age,
He gave rude Scotland Virgil's page.
Than that beneath his rule he held

DUNCAN PHYFE

A Creator of Early American Furniture

N our Colonial Furniture Galleries are authentic reproductions of this famous Early American designer's work. From his shop in New York came pieces of marked Sheraton, Brothers Adam and French Empire influence but with a style characteristic of Phyfe alone. His best work was done prior to 1812, although some pieces did appear as late as 1820.

Typical of Duncan Physe are the graceful proportions, the exquisite feeling of balance and restraint, the acknowledged superiority of work-

STEWART HID BOND DEAL, WITNESS SAYS

Stopped Clipping Oil Coupons on His Order, Company Official Also Says.

TWO WRITERS GRILLED

(Associated Press.) The agreement by which Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, turned over to a trustee the $759.000 in bonds assigned to him as a share in the profit of the Continental Trading Co. was outlined today to the District of Columbia Supreme Court jury trying the oil man on perjury charges.

Roy J. Barnett, tax commissioner for Stewart's company, testified that he had acceded to a request by the board chairman on November 26, 1921, to accept the bonds as a trust, and that Stewart had personally prepared the document.

stewart had personally prepared the document.

This came after the Government had won a point in introducing Stewart's teatimony to the Senate public lands committee last April 24, when he had disclosed the receipt of the bonds and existence of the trust agreement. Justice Jennings Balley overruled defense objection to this record, following which it was read to the jury.

Two newspaper correspondents, Elliott Thurston, of the New York World, and Paul Y. Anderson, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, testified the defendant had told the Senate public lands committee last February that he had received no Continental bonds and had no knowledge of any distribution of bonds by the company.

Their statements were attacked by Prank J. Hogan, defense counsel, who contended that the newspapers, represented by the witnesses, had been "bitterly hostile" to Stewart.

Barnett said Stewart had stipulated in 1921 that existence of the trust agreement should be kept secret, and that they alone knew of it until in 1924, when they informed L. L. Stevens, counsel for the Standard Oll Co. of Indiana about it In 1924, also, Barnett said he had ceased clipping coupons from the Liberty bonds upon a suggestion to this effect from Stewart, because of publicity resulting from the oil scandal investigations at that time.

The trust agreement held that Bar net should retain the bonds until Stewart directed their transfer to his company or to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co., which concerns he has asserted were to receive them evenually.
Barnett produced a record showing that the bonds amounting to $707.

500, with accumulated interest, had been turned over last April to the Sindlar company with a stipulation that ne as trustee would not be responsible for any tax claims levied on them against the Continental Trading Co.

Huntington Estate To Float Bond Issue

Funds Will Pay Taxes and Notes on Millionaire's

Art Treasures.

New York, Nov. 14 (U.P.).—The estate of the late Henry Huntington, California millionaire, will float a bond issue of 89,500,000 with which to pay its taxes and to pay notes Huntington gave in purchasing art treasures.

As far as could be learned here, it was the first time on record that a bond issue for such purposes had been offered.

Art treasures to be paid for by the bonds include the famous Gainsbor-ough "Blue Boy." for which Huntington paid three quarters of a million dol-paid three quarters of a million doliars.

California State inheritance taxes and Federal inheritance taxes amounting to several million dollars will require the greater part of the money faised by the bond issue.

The estate was last appraised at $42.000,000. Most of it, however, consists of securities and but little is cash available for payment of these obligations.
Rather than sell any part of the estate's holdings at this time, the executors decided upon the bond issue.
The bonds will pay 6 per cent interest.

ary and national election in Southern Texas was decided upon yesterday by the House campaign funds committee which voted unanimously to leave for that State November 23 to begin a series of hearings.

Chairman Lehlbach said the committee's action was taken largely because of the number of complaints over the national campaign rather than those which have been made concerning the primary contest in which the House seat of John N. Garner, veteran of the Texas Congressional delegation, is involved.

The chairman explained that only yesterday another request for inquiry into the national campaign in Southern Texas counties had been filed by Mayor F. S. Freeland, of McAllen, Tex.

GUNNEN TRY TO KILL FOES OF ROTHSTEIN

Denver Battle Followed by Raid on Machine Gun Nest in Apartment.

ULTIMATUM BY MAYOR

Denver. Colo. Nov. 15 (U.P.) -Gun Denver, Colo, Nov. 15 (U.P.).—Gun-men believed to have been associated with the Arnold Rothstein gambling clique in New York made two attempts against the lives of Rothstein's former enemies here today. Eddie Diamond, who told police he had been opposed to the Rothstein group, was fired upon by a group of men in the apartment house district. Diamond was uninjured and returned the fire.

The prisoners gave the names of John lackson and James Nolan, but police believed the names to be ficticious.

Later in the day police raided a lowntown place which had been equipped with a machine gun, several automatics and a large supply of ammunition.

Ultimatum From Walker.

New York, Nov. 15 (AP.).—Mayor James J. Walker today served an ultimatum on the police department to "make good" by Monday or admit failure in the investigation into the killing of Arnoid Rothstein.

While the mayor was delivering this order to Police Commissioner Joseph A. Warren, the heads of the detective division and others connected with the police inquiry, the Federal attorney's office disclosed that investigations by Federal agents "strongly indicated" that the slain gambler had been an important figure in a Nationwide narcotic ring.

The mayor's conference with police authorities lasted more than an hour and a half, after which the mayor said:

The mayor's conference with police authorities lasted more than an hour and a half, after which the mayor said:
"I have insisted that either the detective bureau produce some facts by Monday or admit they can't. Then I will decide what action I'll take."

Commissioner Is Present. Present at the conference were all the police connected with the case—from the commissioner down to the uniformed patrolmen who found the wounded gambler on the night of November 4 in the service entrance of the Park Central Hotel, in one of the rooms of which he was shot. District Attorney Joab H. Banton was also present.

As a result of the general discussion of the case at City Hall, the authorities now are convinced that Rothstein knew who shot him, and died keeping the secret. One of his last movements was to put his finger to his sealed lips and shake his head in mute refusal when he was asked to identify the gunman.

While the police investigation went n, the interest of the Federal authori es was centered on Rothstein's pos iles was centered on Rothstein's pos-ible connection with narcotic peddling. John M. Blake, an assistant in the Federal attorney's office, said if the ing could be uncovered it would end arge-scale drug traffic. Among several persons whom au-thorities said they had ordered to ap-pear for questioning was Miss Inez-Norton, former actress to whom Roth-tien left part of his estate. Blake declared Rothstein's associa-tion with the narcotic ring first was indicated last July when he gave bail

BLACKMER IS SAFE IN HIS PARIS HAVEN

Has Defeated U.S. Efforts to Extradite Him in Oil Case, Reports Say.

DATA IS SENT TO COURT

Paris, Nov. 15 (U.P.) .- The United States' request for extradition of Henry M. Blackmer, former Denver oil man, will be rejected, the United Press learned today from authoritative ources. Blackmer, who was a missing witness in the Senate Teapot Dome oil investigation, faced Federal income tax charges in America.

The procurer general transferred documents in the case to the accusations court today and it is expected that a decision will be returned before that a decision will be returned before December 1.

The request will be rejected on double grounds, it was stated.

First, French law limits the time in which extradition may be asked to three years after the offense was committed. Blackmer's case is five years old. Second, the charge of false oath on which extradition is sought is not a punishable offense in France.

While it is almost certain that the extradition request will be refused, the court will hear arguments of United States Treasury Department lawyers. Under French law the decision is final if the accusations court refuses the request, but the minister of justice would have the right to change the decision if the court granted the request.

Lawyer for Webb

Murder Hearing at Chatham, Va., Is Suddenly

Interrupted.

Chatham, Va., Nov. 15-The murde rial of Dennis Webb, charged with hooting Harold Vaden, was interrupted suddenly here this morning by the illness of John W. Carter, of Danville, chief defense attorney. The defendant had been on the stand a few minutes and had brought the jury almost up to the instant of the jury almost up to the instant of the shooting when his attorney, questioning him, swayed dizzlly. Counsel on both sides aided him from the courtroom and he was removed to a hotel. Judge Turner Clement, after swearing the physician and hearing that Carter could not reappear, adjourned court until tomorrow morning.

Webb had told the jury that Harold Vaden and his brother visited him two weeks before the shooting, asked him where he spent a certain night in August, and after receiving an unsatisfactory answer suggested that he "leave town, the quicker the better."

Miss Davis, by a codicil, directed that a map of the City of Washington, fashloned in silk, a flag and a tapestry American shield be made for Wakefield, birthplace of George Washington. The codicil further provided $1,000 bequests for Amy A. Hutton, Elste Hutton and Kate Crawford; $500 bequests for Luile Williamson and Sadie Houston and $300 bequests for Fannie Towles and Katie Turner. The National Savings & Trust Co., is named executor of the estate.

Religion and Medicine Discussed at Howard

Common factors in religion and medicine were discussed by Dr. W Sinclair Bowen at the session yesterday of the twelfth annual convocation of the School of Religion of Howard University heid in the Rankin Memorial Chapel. In attendance there were approximately 155 delegates. An address was made also by Dr. William Adams Brown of Union Theological Seminary, who spoke on "The Life of Prayer."

a special treatment of mental adjustment to personal problems was made by Dr. Wilfred Richmond, of St. Elizabeths Hospital. Other speakers, were Harlan Wood, District commander of the American Legion, Bishop J. A. Gregg, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. George M. Diffenderfer, of the Luther Place Memorial Church.

English Company Is Low Bidder on Market Roof

The English Construction Company as the lowest of eight bidders for the ontract for the repair of the roof of the Western market it was learned when bids were opened by Roland M. Brennan, chief clerk of the engineer department of the District, yesterday. The company bid $9,150. A total of $35,000 was apprepriated by the last session of Congress for the repair of the market, which had become some at dilapidated. Repair of the roof is e first step to put the market back good condition.

tentiary here today with an inspection tour during which they saw some 3,250 inmates housed in buildings with a capacity for about 2,600 men.

Escorted by Warden John Snook and other officials, Representatives John G. Cooper, of Ohio; John Taber, New York: Thomas M. Bell, Georgia, and William F. Kopp, Iowa, were shown cells originally intended to quarter four men which are now housing eight, while the smaller individual cells are shared by two inmates each. Representative John G. Boylan, the fifth member of the committee, was unable to attend today's session.

Various witnesses have been summoned by the investigators but little questioning was done today. The committee declined to state definitely whether it would look into activities of the special Department of Justice Investigators sent here some weeks ago by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General, although Representative Bell said yesterday he would seek to have that phase of the prison affairs considered.

The investigators were accompanied today by Capt. A. H. Connor, superintendent of prisons, and William A. Mason, of Youngstown, Ohio, special counsel for the committee. Representative Cooper said the committee's work probably would be completed Friday and that another final session would be held in Washington before the opening of Congress. It was indicated that Mrs. Wilebrandt might be questioned at the Washington session.

Justice, Waltzing, Weds Marathon Dance Pair

New Orleans, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—
Sprightly tunes furnished the wedding march for a marriage here last night in which all the participants, including the justice of the peace, tripped the light fantastic.

Skipping about the platform where a dance marathon was in progress, Justice of the Peace A. P. Ducros, of St. Bernard Parish, administered the marriage vows and when he had finished Stephen Hildebrand, 19, and Miss Aline Mariborough, 18, were man and wife.

Last Saturday the bride and bride-groom danced to the city hall to pro-oure the marriage license and con-tinued waltzing while the clerk prepared the document. They had to con-tinue dancing to stay in the contest.

Health is something to be thankful for-safeguard it!

The best thing about the goodies that come out of a General Electric Refrigerator is that they're always healthfully fresh. All year round this quiet, automatic refrigerator maintains the scientifically correct temperature that checks the growth of bacteria—and safeguards health.

This perfect refrigeration is a necessity even in the coldest months. For kitchens do get warm, and food isn't really safe to eat unless it is kept below 50 degrees all the time.

The General Electric Refrigerator is entirely different from all others-it is indeed "years ahead" in design.

All its mechanism is up on top—safe from dust and difficulties—and sealed in an air-tight steel casing. You don't even have to oil it.

It is easy to keep clean because it is up-on-legs and because the gentle current of air which radiates from the coils prevents dust from settling.

These quiet, automatic, economical General Electric Refrigerators may be purchased either for cash or on deferred payments. Come in and see them or phone for a booklet.

Message by Coolidge on Air Tonight

President Will Address National Grange on Farm Problems-3 Radio Stars Will Be Heard in Concert Bureau Hour.

A message from President Coolidge to the farmers of America will be broad-cast through a wide network of stations, including WRC, at 8:30 o'clock tonight. President Coolidge will speak before the sixty-second annual session of the National Grange in the Washington Auditorium. It will be his first major address to the farmers this year. Engineers of the National Broadcasting Co. have installed a special pickup on the stage at the auditorium so that on the stage at the auditorium so that the President's farm talk may be broad-cast to the agricultural districts of New England and the Atlantic seaboard, and

England and the Atlantic seaboard, and throughout the Midwest.

The United State Marine Band will play as President Coolidge enters the auditorium and will be heard again later if there is time after his speech.

William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Associated Business Papers in New York City at 9:30 o'clock. This address will be transmitted by WRC.

Sascha Fidelman, violinist, will be featured in the Cities Service Hour at 8 o'clock tonight. Mr. Fidelman's solo selection will be the beautiful Chopin-Sarasate, "Nocturne in E Flat." Another part of this program will be the singing of two numbers by the Cavaliers, "Scandalize My Name" and "Where My Caravan Has Rested."

Three radio stars—Caroline Andrews

Three radio stars—Caroline Andrews, soprano; Del Staigers, cornetist, and James Melton, tenor—will be featured in the weekly concert known as the National Broadcasting and Concert Bu-reau Hour at 10 o'clock through WRC. WORK'S BRIDGE

FOR two years I have been urging Contract Bridge players to use my count when bidding No Trump or jumping partner's No Trump, as I believe it to be a winning system. Following hunches, bidding one hand and passing another with the same amount of strength, is fatal to sound Contract, game in which it is essential that a game in which it is essential that your partner know as nearly as may be the exact strength that you have.

In Contract the rank and file of partners, when they have some strength in each hand, are very apt to bid somewhat almiessly in the following manner: South (Dealer) one No Trump (and supposing that the adversaries pass whenever it is their turn to declare.) North two No Trumps, South three No Trumps. They are apt to consider that three No Trumps by the Dealer is a bid that is virtually forced by the jump to two No Trumps by the partner. They argue that there is no point in stopping at two No Trumps—one short of game—with a hand that by any possibility can with a hand that by any possibility can make three; and therefore, in many cases they throw away a valuable partial score of 70 and suffer an unnecessary make three; and therefore, in many cases they throw away a valuable partial score of 70 and suffer an unnecessary penalty.

Of course, there is no system that will work in every hand, and yet the system I advocate will almost accomplish this seeming impossibility. During the past summer I tested it in 600 rubbers, watching every case in which a No Trump was bid; and remarkable as it may seem, in that enormous number of hands there was hardly a single instance in which the scheme did not work perfectly; i. e., it directed a bid of three No Trumps in hands in which that contract could be made, and held bidder short from the game-going declaration in hands with which it could not be made.

It is conceded that in other tests the of be made.

Cincinnati Station Definitely Silenced During Night by Reallocation of Wave Lengths Through Davis Amendment.

One of the definite results of the new reallocation of wave lengths is the silencing each night of WSAI, of Cincinnati, one of the oldest and most popular stations in the Middle West. Under orders from the Federal Radio ommission, WSAI now goes off the air each evening "at sunset in Fort Worth, from which time on the station's wave length is used by WBAP in that city. Until 9:30 p. m. on Saturday, November 10, Cincinnati fans had hoped that some eleventh hour move might save WSAI for its listening thousands. Two programs had been planned for presentation at 9 p. m. The Swan Song was broadcast while the "whoopee" celebration that would have informed fans of the salvation of the station was filed away with the station's souvenirs.

"We do not feel that the blame for this thing should be placed too strongly on the Radio Commission. We feel that the Davis amendment is at fault and we believe that the law will be changed very soon," was the message read on the farewell program from Powel Crosley, Jr.

She hasn't time, she says, for outdoor sports and since she has to help with the housework at alight is so tired that she hasn't any energy for exercising before she goes to bed.

This is a case that is far too common, I fear. This young woman, like thousands of others, has persuaded herself that her time is so full of other things that there is no room for exercise. ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE.

Epidemic Of Yellow Fever Gone

Last Paralyzing Outbreak Was in 1879 but Plague Has Since Been Stopped by Researches of Gorgas and Others.

To the limit of space, questions per-tinent to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this col-umn. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is in-closed. Dr. Evans will not make diag-nosis or prescribe for individual dis-ease.

By DR. W. A. EVANS.

In 1879 we had the last serious outbreak of yellow fever that North America has ever experienced. The probability is that we will never have another. Since that year we have never known what it was to have an epidemic which paralyzed society. The influenza wave of 1918 was bad enough, but all will agree that nothing at that time compared with yellow fever in 1878 or 1879.

Discovery of the Mississippi. II. THE GREAT RIVER FOUND.

D E SOTO was very careful to treat the Black Warrior politely and, with his soldiers, rode with him into the walled town.

As the Black Warrior rode into his city he had the feeling that the Spaniards looked upon him as a prisoner. For that reason he went into one of the Indian huts and when De Soto called to him he would not return.

With the remainder of his forces, De Soto pushed westward again. Another winter was spent beside the upper waters of the Yazoo River, a winter of suffering which was marked by the spring of the year 154t he Spaniards por the year 154t he spaniards por

Through all their hunting no gold had been found; but these lusty men were willing to fare farther. They crossed the Mississippi and spent a year in the quest of that metal which has brought so many to an unhappy end. After turning in their paths they returned to the Mississippi. On its banks De Soto died of a fever. His men burled him in the river so that the Indians might not learn of the leader's death.

A year after De Soto's death the remainder of the party built rude ships and sailed across the gulf to the shore of Mexico. There they related their adventures and told about the great stream which they had discovered.

IN SLOWER TRADING

Reaction Follows Early Upward Movement of Leaders: Late Rally Sets In.

CALL MONEY ADVANCES

New York, Nov. 15.—After three 5,-000,00-share days in a row, there was a slight et-up in activity in stock dealings in the New York Stock Exchange today, the turnover approximating 4,750,000 shares. For a time after the opening the trading was mixed, although traders for the rise appeared to have the upper hand and, with few exceptions, the leading stocks moved substantially above yesterday's final quotations. The upward movement was carried on under the leadership of Westinghouse, United States Steel, Consolidated Gas, Byers, Radio and Briggs Manufacturing.

Around midday the number of self-ers appeared to increase and from that time to the finish the general trend of the market was downward. Under these conditions trading slowed up perceptibly so that at the close the ticker was only 20 minutes behind the market. While steady selling was in order in the afternoon there was no rush to unload, nor any violent reactions.

At the finish, net losses outnumbered gains by about 2 to 1 and ranged, with one exception, from mere fractions, of little over 3 points, whereas the approach of the maximum gainer and closing at a new high of 139. New York, Nov. 15.—After three 5,-

Rally in Late Trading.

Rally in Late Trading.

A rally in the late trading brought several issues back to near or above their early highs.

Probably some of the profit-taking was induced by the expectation of a large brokerage loan announcement after the close. It proved to be less than in some predictions, increased $1,849,000 during the week to a new high record of $4,980,817,000.

The only concrete piece of news that might have stimulated selling was the raising of the call money rate from $6 to 6½ per cent. The influence of this change, however, was small in comparison with expectations in many quarters of a reaction on the "What $600 up must come down" theory. Time money rates remained unchanged.

The advance in the call rate was due to the calling of $20,000,000 by the banks, with new funds rather slow in making their appearance. Sentiment in the stock market was helped materially by the appearent ease with which selling was absorbed and the fact that the closing hour found the general market fairly steady and with a 'irm undetent.

"Your Money More than Doubles-"

Under the modern method of accumulating a substantial reserve fund for the future, invest $20, $30, $40, or more each month in 61/2% bonds offered by The F. H. Smith Company, with the interest on each bond reinvested at the same rate. By this plan you can accumulate an interest of approximately $5,000 - $7,500 -$10,000 or more in only 240 months. This is more than double the principal invested.

61/2% Compounded Semi-Annually

The interest from your first bond helps pay for another. Soon you have interest on two bonds helping you pay for a third; interest on three bonds helping pay for a fourth, and so on. An ideal plan for the average investor.

NAME....

The old saying, "All wealth comes from the soil," is made more evident to us at this time of the year as we watch November winds sweep the last of summer leaves back to the earth from which they came.

Also it brings home to us the reason for the solidity and safety of the First Mortgage Investments issued by Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. For these notes have, as their security, the very soil underlying the Nation's Capital, which, from year to year, steadily increases in value as the population of Washington increases. And as this value grows, the margin of safety behind these notes likewise widens.

You may share in this innate security of your Capital city, for these notes are always available in as small denominations as $100 and, at present, they pay interest at 6%.

Prices Generally Improve Slightly; Andes Copper 7s Again Are Feature.

U. S. GROUP IS HEAVY

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.) .- Prices improved slightly in highly selective trading in the bond market today. There were wide gains in two or three unusually active issues, while the rest of the list showed narrow gains or losses on small turnovers. Calling of upwards of $15.000.000 in bank loans and expectations of another increase in the brokers' loan total caused some and expectations of another increase in the brokers' loan total caused some hesitation

'ndes Copper 7s were among the strong features, the issue extending its recent gains nearly 10 points to a new high price at 186 in sympathy with an advance in the stock. General Cable 5½s established a new peak, 101, but sold down fractionally Public Service of New Jersey 4½s were lifted more than 3 points to a new high at 159 International Cement 5s also touched a new high, 105%, but closed "ith a small net loss. Other issues active at higher levels included Detroit Ri =r Tunnel 4½s. Shubert Theater 6s, U. S. Steel 5s. Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s, Chille Copper 5s. Dodge Brothers 6s and Consolidated Coal of Maryland 5s. Olfs again encountered selling pressure and most issues were heavy. Some utilities also sold down, among them Brooklyn Union Gas 5½s, which sagged nearly 5 points.

Gains in the railroad groups were small. St. Paul 5s of 2000 attracted comparatively heavy buying. There was some accumulation also of Canadian National Railways 4½s. Southern Railway 5s. St. Louis Southwestern 5s.

Italian Industrials 2, and were the feature of the irregular foreign list. Continued heavy buying lifted Flat 7s with warrants 11½ points to a new top at 161. U. S. Government obliguitions were inclined to heaviness.

CAPITALIZATION® To be Authorized

Copies of a letter from Mr. Walter H. Cunningham, President of the Company, with reference to the Company and its Fifteen-Year 61/36 Convertible Debentures and Common Stock may be obtained from the undersigned. Mr. Cunningham has summarized the substance of this letter in part as follows:

BUSINESS

SUSINESS

"Truax-Traer Coal Company, which owns and operates strip coal mines in North Dakota, has recently acquired atrip coal mines in Illinois and has an option, which it has agreed to exercise, to purchase the entire capital stock of Cabin Creek Consolidated Coal Company, which operates drift coal mines in West Virginia. All of these properties drift coal mines in West Virginia. All of these properties have records of continuous profitable operation extending over a period of years. The Company or its subsidiaries will own or lease 1,275 acres of unmined coal lands with proven reserves of over 17,000,000 tons of lignite coal in North Dakota; 1,320 acres with proven reserves of over 14,400,000 tons of bituminous coal in Southern Illinois; and 20,045 acres with proven reserves of over 63,000,000 tons of Acme splint coal and 52,000,000 tons of other splint and gas coals in West Virginia. The product of each of these properties compares favorably in quality with the coals mined in its respective territory. in its respective territory.

STRIP AND DRIFT MINING

The adaptability of the North Dakota and Illinois properties to operation by strip mining is of outstanding importance. Under this method power driven shovels are used to strip the covering of earth from coal beds which are near the surface, leaving the exposed coal to be easily removed. When practicable it is the most economical method of mining coal, the saving in operating cost as compared with deep mining being from 30% to 50%. Relatively few mines in the United States can be operated by this process as only a limited tonnage of coal is available for stripping. The production of coal from strip mines in this country does not exceed 3% of the total coal produced.

The West Virginia properties, comprising eight coal mines, are operated by drift mining which, next to strip mining, is the most economical method for the production of coal. Under this system the coal vein is tapped at its outcrop on the side of a mountain or hill and the coal is extracted through entries or passageways driven horizontally.

As a result of the combined operation of these properties, As a result of the able to effect substantial economies in production and sales and in addition the effects of such contingencies as labor difficulties, car shortages and sectional market depressions will be lessened. Where previously it was impractical to enter into certain markets with but one grade of coal, now, because the coals produced by the Company largely supplement each other as to quality and usage, concentrated sales efforts may be extended to all the Middle Western states at a low sales cost per ton.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE The proceeds from the sale of the Debentures and of Common Stock of the Company provide for the discharge of obligations incurred and to be incurred in connection with the purchase of the Illinois properties and the entire capital stock of Cabin Creek Consolidated Coal Company, the cost of additional equipment being installed at these properties, the retirement of certain funded debt and preferred stock heretofore outstanding and additional working capital.

THOROUGHBRED racing will be deposited today figuratively on Washington's front doorstep. The opening of the Bowle fall meeting is at hand, and General Manager James P. O'Hara, of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, and his staff will hold forth for twelve days at the Prince Georges County track, which has come to be one of the most popular with Washington racing folks.

O'Hara is offering a large assortment of stakes and overnight events for the 1.500 thoroughbreds belonging to the most representative horsemen in the country which have assembled at Bowle. The Prince Georges Handleap provides the opening day feature and this $10.000 purse at a mile and a sixteenth has attracted an outstanding field of 3-year-olds. Track officials have advanced post 'ime of the opening race to 1 p. m., enabling racegors to return to the city before dusk.

General Manager O'Hara belleves that the new type gates at Bowle will be a distinct improvement over the standing and walk-up starting methods now in use.

Elmer P. Hardell, director of athletics at Tech, declared that he would be interested in the game should his team win the championship. The game, which would be staged by Champ Pickens, Southern sportsman, calls for the local team to make an 800-mile trip, and the feasibility of such a plan and whether it would interfere with the players' work in school will be considered very carefully.

Two dates have been offered for the game, either on November 21 or December 1. The first date to either Eastern or Tech would be unsatisfactory as it comes too soon iar as that pitch and this department is concerned, and who had possession of the ball when the Notre Dame-Army football game ended last Saturday? No one will ever know. Walter Eckersall, the referee; Tom Thorpe, the umpire, and Fred Murphy, the head linesman, all think it was Army's ball on a first down, but the whistle ended their responsibilities and nobody will swear to anything.

sponsibilities and nobody will swear to anything.

"All I know," wires Knute Rockne from Notre Dame, "is what our boys told me, and that is that Army had failed to make first down by a yard, but before anything could be done the gong sounded and the game was over. Personally I think the matter is of no importance. It was a great game, regardless of anything that may come up as an aftermath."

All that cat be set down here, without fear of successful contradiction, as the politicians say, is that Notre Dame won the game, 12 to 6.

Hilltoppers Polishing Air Game as West Va. Battle Nears.

THE Georgetown line, to which the most credit has been given for the success of the team this year, will go into tomorrow's homeoming game at Griffith Stadium with West Virginia badly crippled.

On top of the loss of Capt. Jerry Carroll, whose football career at Georgetown was brought abruptly to an end last week, when he broke his leg early in the Carnegle Tech game, is the fear that Sam Cordovano, the other regular guard, probably will be unable to play.

Cordovano, considered the best man on the Hilltop line, has a badly twisted knee and has not been in a uniform this week. Trainer Harry Crowley is baking the knee in an effort to have Cordovano in shape, but Coach Lou Little holds little hope of him being ready for the West Virginia game.

Was that a quick delivery that Willie Sherdel tossed at Babe Ruth in a world's series game at St. Louis? A Marsh, Driscoll, J. Murphy, Brogan, National League umpire ruled that it was, and that closed the argument so far as that pitch and this department lamed.

The confidence of the team is not shaken by its defeat last Saturday and despite its crippled condition. Just who will captain the team on the field tomorrow has not been decided, but the job may be turned over to big Jim Mooney.

The regulars of the squad are being given more or less of a rest this week as they are being held out of all scrimmages and should be able to play again at top speed against the Mountaineers. Again yesterday, Georgetown spent long time in polishing up its passir attack. Under the direction of Coac Herb Kopf, the entire group of en and backs were given a try at snaring the ball. Duplin, Scalzi, Gardener and Hudak did most of the pegging.

Coach Leary announced last night that Edward Leary might start in the place of Robert Dwyer at one of the half back positions.

Leary, a shifty broken-field run-ner, has had a complete rest and is due to show some good football, while Dwyer, though light, has taken a hard pounding in the last few games because he has gotten into the thick of things defen-sively, Duplin, Hudak and Barabas are expected to complete the back few games because he has gotten into the thick of things defensively. Duplin, Hudak and Barabas are expected to complete the back field.

West Virginia has been practicing astrenuously for the game, working out under flood lights with the use of a white ball. Coach Rodgers also nas been conducting skull drills at night in an effort to show his men the georgetown style of offense and delfense. Bartrug was the only Mountaineer regular not to report for practice. "Big Sleepy" Glenn is expected to take his place at least at the start of the game and will do the punting. School Teams In Decisive Contest

Tech Hopes Based on Running Game and Air Attack.

Stubborn Defense of Eastern Team Gives Followers Hope.

BY GARRETT WATERS.

W ITH the setting complete for a decisive contest, the Tech and Eastern elevens will battle it out today for the 1928 high school football series championship. The two teams will settle their differences at Central Stadium, starting at 3:15 p. m., before a crowd that is expected to outnumber the 8,000 who saw the Trech-Central yame.

to outnumber the 8,000 who saw the Tech-Central game.
Only a tie can prevent either team from winning the title outright, and a tie is not considered likely in view of the more impressive record of the Tech eleven, which has established the team as a pronounced favorite. Both teams, however, are unbeaten in the series, and in the light of frequent upsets in the past, a Tech victory is by no means taken as a foregone conclusion.

gone conclusion.

Tech and Eastern come down the stretch as the two remaining contenders for the title after a siege of early games that bore out preseason predictions. The title appeared to lie between the two teams from the start of the campaign, and while Eastern has won two of its games as the result of taking advantage of "breaks." Tech has swept through all series optonents with ease. nents with ease.

The powerful Tech offensive, which operates behind a well-drilled, hard-charging line, is the token by which Tech is taken to win today's game. The Manual Trainers, however, have not yet encountered a defense as stubborn as that of Coach Kelley's team, and in this defense lie Eastern's chief hopes.

Eastern's chief hopes.

Howard Florence and Holmes Fountain, who have been the spearhead of Tech's attack, stand out as Tech's chief oftensive threats, supplemented by a clever forward passing attack that specialized in long-distance heaves by Dristel It will be Eastern's business to check this duo. Eastern's own offensive, now built around the elusive Eddie Oxley and the slightly built McCullough, heretofore has failed to function as thetam's supporters had hoped.

Both teams in the past week have "pointed" for the game, Coaches Hardell and Kelley having concentrated on getting their strongest line-ups ready a decisive margin.

Bignal drills, passing drills, punting and light scrimmages have been the order. And both are confident on the eve of the battle of victory Hardell is s.i. to have "opened up" for the first time from his match with young Stribling, of Atlanta, today because of an injured arm. The bout was scheduled for November 23 in Madison Square Garden.

Tom McArdle, Garden matchmaker, failed to sign a substitute, although the 1928 champion is concerned. Western and Central close the series next Tuesday in a game which will decide the holder of the third-place position for physical examination.

Tech will use the same line-up that has carried it overwhelmingly that has carried it overwhelmingly to its now imposing position, in-cluding such names as Benner and Edelbut, ends, probably the two best of the series; Cole and Ed-wards, hefty tackles; Leo Winston, center; Oyster and Capt, Oehmann, guards, and a back field of Drissel, Florence, Fountain and Goss.

Probably Drissel has no other superior in the art of heaving the pigskin in the working of Tech's famous forward passing attack, while experts will have to go far and wide to find as good ball carriers as Florence. Fountain and Goss.

Eastern will throw a slightly changed line-up into the breach than that which has represented it in several of its past games. Holland will return to an end position, while Clow will be entrusted with the full back bertile left open by the injury of Charlle Millar a week or so ago. Chamberiain will be back at one of the guard posts, while Spear and Hayden, who started against Business last week, will be held in reserve. Max Miller will hold down the center position even though Chester Miles is once more available while the rest of the line-up will remain the same as that which played against Business. THERE is no denying that the Boxing Bug has been buzzing round Mr. Dempsey. His recent conference with Rickard did not bring forth an announneement that Dempsey definitely would return to the ring, but Dempsey, before, has always had his price, and the present lot of heavyweights, by his own admission, should not cause him much concern. He was training daily while awaiting Rickard's return from the South. Of course, Jack always did like training, but just the same his daily workouts seem to mean more than exercise; and his secsion with Rickard implied more than merely passing the time of day.

Dempsey is a thoroughbred warrior. He is a fighter from first to last. The boxing game has been his game—and it is hard to give it up. Besides, who is itthat can not use an extra half million?

True, the former champ has definitely announced that he is through with the ring forever, but there is always a chance that he will change his mind. It is one of the best things that he does.

That Bexing Bug will sting him yet.

COLLYER'S COMMENT SPORT of KINGS

BEGORRA.

Great day for the Irish. This is one of the fastest youngsters in the W. R. Coe barn and is said to have outworked Igloo, Cheers, Vanity and the rest of the Coe bables. Tep, inaugural dash at Bowle and be on hand early to avoid the rush. The twelve-day fall meeting opens with the Prince Georges Handicap as the topliner. I like SUN BEAU, 126 pounds and all that goes with him. MISSTEP has worked well for this race, and under 117 pounds is likely to run a cracking good race. NASSAK is right on his toes and it is a question whether he can carry his great speed over the route, with the kind he is hooked up with today. Another hot one that comes to me via the grapevine route is POLY in the second spasm. I know where the commissions are planted in large gobs. where the commissions are planted in large gobs. AUCILLA'S last effort was bard to take. Can do much better. DIGNUS is likely to show improvement here.

STANDBY figures a shade the best of the 2-year-olde lined up in the third ALITUDE'S last effort was nothing to sneeze at. PENOLA was toesed in a soft spot in the fifth. JOE MARRONE III is the likely contender GRAND BEY is the live one in the sixth. Wouldn't be surprised if this bird pays 5 to 1 or better. LONG POINT gets the call in the seventh. SR LEONID and FOREST LORE for what is left.

Over at Lexington, where the geegaws are performing like a lot of trained pigs. I am reliably informed that GUAPA goes for the bacon in the seventh. That last race is not to be taken seriously.

AREGAL is to be dragged from the old vat in the third race. This horse was only recently reinstated. He showed speed the first time out and is evidently in better condition than his race would indicate. Tab the ring action is my warning CHATTER BLACK won in a romp the other day and look for it to repeat in the opening event PIGEON HOLE and MARTIE FLYNN hook up again in the fifth, and I am willing to stake my shirt on the Head-lay horse going a mile, eh, what? PREP SCHOOL TEAMS IN 4 GAMES

Devitt and St. John's in Only Contests Here Today.

Deviit PREP, with a crippled eleven, hopes to stop the Catholic University Freshmen today in their annual clash at the Catholic University Stadium, starting at 3 o'clock in one of the four prep school games. Coach MeNannar has been forced to confine his efforts for the most part to light work this week in preparation for the game.

Devitt has six players on the injured list and at least two are through for the season. The group includes Henry Gallotta, Capt. Knott, Bill Gilbane, Rufus Vincent, Johnny Ritter and George Wadell.

McNamara, has been stressing McNamara has been stressing defense in most of his practices with view to stopping the long runs of Oliver, the C. U. Freshman ace. Oliver was burt in the Mount St. Mary's game last week but is reported fit for today.

On the other hand, the Cardinal Cubs must do some stopping on their own account today. Devitt is pinning a lot of hope in the ability of Abe Abramson, its own Chris Cagle. Abramson's long runs have featured all of Devitt's games to date. Whether or hot Abramson can "go" against a team of the caliber of the C. U. Freshmen remains to be seen callber of the C. U. Freshmen remains to be seen

Zube Sullivan will take his St. John's Eleven to the Milloop to meet the heavier Georgetown Freshmen in the only other prep school game on a local field.

Gonzaga will travel to Emmitsburg, Md., for a clash with the Mount St. Mary's Freshmen who gave the C. U. Yearlings a stiff game last week, while Emerson is scheduled at Alexandris, moeting the Alexandria High Eleven.

10 MARYLAND REGULARS READY FOR VIRGINIA GAME

Cavaliers Not Cripples, Is Warning

Virginia Will Offer No 'Alibis If Defeated. Says Manager.

McDonald Only Ailing Old Line Regular; Evans May Start.

Unless he changes his mind before game time. Coach Curley Bryd, of the Maryland Pootball Team, will have nine, and probably ten, of his regulars on the field when the Old Liners start against Virgina in their homecoming day clash at College Park tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock.

Reports from Charlotteaville also say that a great many of the Virginia cripples have come to life and that the Cavallers will present a capable pleven against the College Parkers.

In fact, Ellis Brown, graduate manager of athletics at Virginia, called up over the 'phone and stated that he wanted to make it emphatic that they were offering no pregame allbis and that the Cavallers team which will take the field tomorrow would be well able to take care of itself.

"We are coming up to College Park with a team that is determined to lick Maryland and we don't want anyone to think otherwise. We may get licked curselves, but you can make up your mind that we will be in the thick of the right all the way." Brown said.

As matters size up now, the only Maryland regular who is not slated to start the game is Mc-Donald, right tackle, and he may be in good enough trim to be called upon in a plach. Byrd though, is debating whether to begin with Kessler or Evans at quarter.

debating whether to begin with Kessler or Evans at quarter.

Kessler played two minutes against Virginia Poly for his only game action since he was hurt in the V. M. I. contest on October 27. and Evans. his understudy, performed well against Kale in all departments.

Maryland's victory over Yale and the fact that Virginia is about the most popular team to visit Washington indicates that a record crowd for Byrd Stadium will see the contest. There are about 7.500 seats in the enlarged plant at College Park, and all of them are likely to be occupied when Referee Paul Magofin poots his whistle tomorrow for the start of hostilities.

Colgate Is Favorite

To Defeat Syracuse One of its so-called major games.

Syracuse opened its heavy portion of the schedule following easy victories over Hobart. William and Mary and Johns Hopkins, by playing Nebraska at Lincoln and losing a hard-fought battle by a 7-to-6 score. From then on up to the present time the team has fulled to show strongly once. State tied at 6-6. Pitt and Ohio Wesleyan defeated Coach Lew Andreas' charges by scores of 18 to 0 and 6 to 0, respectively.

In the series between the teams, Colgate holds a 16 to 10 advantage, with three tie games.

To Invade Gettysburg Westminster, Md., Nov. 15.—Western Maryland expects a hard game at Gettysburg this Saturday The Battlefield boys have one of their best teams this year. So far they have defeated Bucknell and Lehigh and have lost only to Penn State and Villanova by very close scores. There is always great rivalry between the two schools and Coach Harlow is preparing for what he says will be the best assignment on the schedule.

Full practice sessions have been held this week. There will be no scrimmage, but a great amount of time will be spent in dummy work.

It is thought that Havens will have recovered sufficiently to take his old position at center in this game. This will greatly bolster the line. Wellinger is also rounding into shape. Long, who was hurt against Mount St. Mary's, will probably be out for some time.

BULWARKS OF VIRGINIA TEAM THAT FACES MARYLAND

Hunter Faulconer, left, and George Taylor, below, have been among the outstanding performers of the Cavaliers this season and will be seen in the regular line-up when Virginia takes the field against Maryland University tomorrow at College Park in the annual "home-coming" day game of the two institutions. Faulconer, a half back, has been a consistent ground gainer this season and has hown flashes of true brilliance. Taylor, center, is a reliable pivot man and his play featured in the 0 to 0 tie that Virginia played Princeton carlier in the season.

Cardinals Leave for Brooklyn Game Confident.

THE Catholic University Football Team will bring its out-of-town season to a close tomorrow with a game against St. John's, at Brooka game against St. John's, at Brooklyn, N. Y. Coach McAuliffe and about 25 players will leave this morning by special car for the game.

Gerth and Zeno are expected to start at end. Smith and Raiche at tackle, O'Connor and Menke at guard, and McCabe at center. In the back field will be Murphy at quarter back, Champa an Healy at half back and Capt.
Schmidt at full back.

It is hoped that Jack Malevitch may be able to play a few minutes at least, so as to round back into shape for the big Thanksgiving Day game with George Washington.

Coach McAuliffe will rely upon the speed of his back field quartet for a victory over the Brooklyn Eleven. Murphy, Healy and Champa are about as fast men as can be found, while Schmidt, though a little heavier, is also a clever, broken field runner. Healy and Champa are dash men and if they once get away there will be no here of once get away there will be no hope of the St. John's eleven ever catching them. While the Cardinals may be out-weighed the team will not attempt to batter the Brooklyn line, but will rely upon the speed of its backs and its passing attack.

The Spotlight By JOHN J. DALY

adjective is spelled Sevillean—in the Spanish. 'That place, as all followers for Burton Molmes know, is Seville, Spain. In his "Grand Tour of Bpain," started a week ago, the noted travel lecturer took up yesterday where he left off, outside of Madrid. So, in easy stages, he came to Seville and way stations, with an extended stop at Granada. Many camera' studies of the old Alhambra were shown, and it was developed later on that most of these delightful recordings were made by a Washington boy, young Franklin LaVarre, whose mother and father cama yesterday afternoon to see their son's handiwork.

Not every city in which he lectures produces a home-cooked dinner for Burton Holmes, but Washington, almeit is the native town of his fellow traveler and camera man, came to the rescue. After the ceremories at the National the entourage followed the alogan of a local bakery, from Holmes to home the home of the LaVarres. As Col. C. De Forrest Chandler, an invited guest, remarked, "I'd rather be a civillan in Washington than a military man in Seville."

"Gods of the Lightning," the play said to be based on the now celebrated case of Sacco and Vanzetti, is about to decamp from Broadway. Written by Maxwell Anderson, coauthor of "What Price Glory," and Harold Hickerson, this drama caused quite a bit of comment on the Gay White Way. Yet it failed to click. It was no uncommon occurrence for members of the audience to remain in the play-house after the show, and argue; but all this was of no avail to the box office. And so to Cain's Storehouse!

Hamilton McFadden, producer of this play, will next turn his attention to another work of Maxwell' Anderson, "Hell on Wheels."

S. E. Cochran, the local impresario.

"Hell on Wheels."

S. E. Cochran, the local impresario. has a namesake in London—the well known producer, C. B. Cochran. It was this member of the Cochran clan who brought over to America, opening in Baltimore, the successful revue. "This Year of Grace," which has gripped Broadway by the hand. Mr. Cochran—C. B., not S. E.—sails for England Saturday. He has several plans for productions in London which include the Sean O'Casey play. "The Silver Tasse! later to be seen in this country under the cosponsorship of Cochran and Arch Selwyn, and a new levue to follow "This Year of Grace" at the London Pavilion. The Noel Coward revue, now in its thirty-eighth week there, is still doing a roaring business. This new revue, entatively called "Eye." is to have music and lyrics by Cole Porter and a book from the combined pens of John Hastings Turner and Harry Graham.

Then there is also his production of "Porgy" in association with Crosoy Gaige and the Theater Guild, due in London in April, and a London, show-ing of "Coquette," Helen Hayes' suc-cess. Over here, in addition to the O'Casey play. Cochran will produce, again with Arch Selwyn, the Monck-ton Hoffe play, "Many Waters," which is now running in London at the Am-bassador Theater.

A permanent repertoiric company is to take possession of the Belasco Theater, opening Sunday night, November 25.

The producing director is Charles Emerson Cook, well known here by reason of his many years with David Belasco, and more recently with the production activities of H. H. Frazee, whose "No. No. Nanette." will not readily be forgotten. Indeed, it is this delightful song-and-dance hit which Mr. Cook has chosen to open his season at the Belasco Some members of the original cast are in his organization of 50 None of the old-time operas will be given. Mr Cook believes the demand is for the newer and lighter forms, with bright songs, clever dancing, speed and, above all—youth. "No, No, Nanette" will be followed by "Wildflower. "Tip Toes." "Irene." "Little Nelly Kelly." "Lady Be Good," "Queen High," and, in fact, a succession of all, the high lights of modern musical comedy.

Business Passing Ploneer Period.

Business Passing Pioneer Period.

Business is passing out of the pioneer period, according to Craig B. Hazlewood, newly elected president of the American Bankers' Association, who, in the current issue of the American Bankers' Association Journal, received yesterday at Washington banks, holds the secret of future banking success lies in sound management.

"I believe" and Transport of The Property of the Propert agement.

"I believe," said President Hazlewood, "If there were set up certain definite standards to be required of bank officers, the administration of which would be under the supervision of our State banking department and the Comptroller of the Currency, the kind and character of men intrusted with the management of banks in the future would be very considerably improved."

Reserve Bank Statement.

The consolidated statement of condition of the Federal Reserve banks on November 14, made public by the Federal Reserve Board here yesterday, shows decreases for the week of $100,000 in holdings of discounted bills, of $10,400,000 in Federal Reserve note circulation, and of $9,300,000 in Government deposits.

Increases of $25,800,000 in holdings of bills bought in the open market, of $34,700,000 in member bank reserve deposits, and of $19,700,000 in cash reserves, developed. Total bills and securities were $74,300,000 below the amount field on November 7. The system's holdings of Treasury certificates increased $5,000,000, while holdings of Treasury notes declined $5,300,000. Federal reserve note circulation showed an increase of $1,800,000 in the Richmond District.

Still Dominant Factor.

The independent inerchant is still the dominant factor in the retail business of the country, despite the growth of the chain stores, according to estimates fust made by James L. Palmer, professor of marketing at the University of Chicago. According to these estimates, the independent merchants are still doing 61 per cent of the country's retail business, while the chains are doing 25 per cent, the independent department stores, 9 per cent, the mail order houses, 4 per cent; and house-to-house canvassers, 1 per cent.

Outstanding 1,000,000 shares There will also be outstanding $15,500,000 Fifteen-Year 64% Sinking Fund Gold Debentures of Pacific Western Oil Company, a subsidiary company. Findling 232,300 shares to be reserved for exercise of stock purchase warrants to be attached to the above Deben-lures entitling the holders to purchase capital stock of Pacific Western Oil Corporation at $33 1.3 per share at any sime on or before November 1, 1938. Holders of capital stock will have no pre-emptive rights in the purchase of additional securities issued by the Corporation.

Jacques Vinmont, Chairman of the Board letter dated November 15, 1928, as follows:

rd of Directors of Pacific Western Oil Corporation, summarizes luc been incorporated under the laws of Delaware as a holding company to acquire all of the capital stock of Pacific Western Oil Company. Pacific Western Oil Company has been organized under the laws of Delaware to acquire substantially all of the oil producing properties, and the greater portion of the undeveloped oil properties, in California, owned, leased or controlled by Petrojeum Securities Company, a corporation all the stock of which is owned by Edward L. Doheny and members of his family. The properties comprise a total of about 40,000 and East Coyote districts.

The production for October, 1923, from the properties being acquired averaged over 16,000 barrels daily after deducting production due joint owners; and after deducting royalties, averaged approximately 13,000 barrels, net production. In addition to the present production, the management has shut in production of about 4,000 barrels daily. Eight wells are now being drilled, all of which are in the prolific Ventura Avenue field.

Robert B. Moran, independent engineer, estimates

Contracts: Pacific Western Oil Company will presently enter into a contract extending until 1938 with Richfield Oil Company of California, under which the latter will agree to purchase the entire crude oil production of substantially all the properties above described up to 20,000 barrels daily at prevailing posted market prices, and has the first call at such prices on any additional productions in excess of 20,000 barrels daily from such properties and on all production from properties subsequently acquired, such latter production, however, being subject to release under the terms of the contract in the event of sale or merger. The Company will also enter into a contract with Richfield Oil Company of California for the sale of casing-head gasoline derived incident to its operations. These contracts will not only assure to Pacific Western Oil Company the advantage of providing an immediate market at the wells for its production at prevailing market prices but should also obviate the necessity for large expenditures for storage and transportation facilities.

Valuation and Assets: The physical properties to be acquired by Pacific Western Oil Company have been appraised by Robert B. Moran, independent engineer, at over $43,000,000. On the basis of this appraised valuation and including working capital of about $1,750,000, to be provided out of current financing, total assets of Pacific Western Oil Company will amount to over $44,750,000. Such assets will be carried on the books at a valuation of about $27,500,000.

Purpose of Issue: The capital stock of the Corporation, together with $15,500,000 of the Pacific Western Oil Company Debentures with stock purchase warrants of the Corporation attached, is being issued in connection with the acquisition of the properties and to provide working capital for Pacific Western Oil Company.

Management:

Jacques Vinmont, formerly President of the California Petroleum Company, is Chairman of the Board of Pacific Western Oil Corporation. William C. McDuffie, formerly in charge of crude oil production for the Royal Dutch-Shell Group, will be President of both companies. The executives will hold a substantial interest in the capital stock of Pacific Western Oil Corporation.

We offer these shares when, as and if issued and received by us subject to the approval by Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, counsel for the Corporation, and Messrs. Cravath, deGersdorff, Swaine & Wood, counsel Bankers, of all legal proceedings incident to the issuance of all securities of Pacific Western Oil Corporation Messrs. Loeb, Walker & Loeb of Los Angeles are acting as California counsel for the Bankers. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about November 23.

A summary report of Robert B. Moran is available for inspection at offices of Blyth, Witter & Co. and J. & W Seligman & Co.

Price $24 per Share

Properties: Pacific Western Oil Corporation has by Edward L. Doheny and members of his family. The properties comprise a total of about 40,000 acres of which approximately 31,000 acres are owned in fee. 5,450 acres are held under lease (of which 667 acres are held jointly with others). 728 acres are controlled through ownership of mineral rights or otherwise, and 3,100 acres are held under U. S. Government permits or leases which will be acquired subject to Government consent (which, according to counsel, is usually obtained in due course), together with certain production equipment, materials and supplies and gasoline absorption plants located on the properties. Of the acreage held in fee or controlled, a lease has been granted on a royalty basis on about 10,265 acres. Production is being obtained at present from Ventura Avenue, Inglewood, Huntington Beach, Alamitos Heights (Seal Beach), Torrance, Los Alamos and East Coyote districts.

Robert B. Moran, independent engineer, estimates total recoverable oil reserves of approximately 56,-300,000 barrels from present proven acreage in the properties being acquired, without taking into consideration potential recovery from undeveloped acreage.

English Rescuers Near Rye Overwhelmed by Waves

on Mercy Errand. LITTLE VILLAGE STRICKEN

Folkestone, England, Nov. 15 (United Press).—A lifeboat loaded with seventeen men set out from the tiny fishing village of Rye Harbor early today at the height of a fierce gale to aid the storm-battered steamer Alice, and was lost with all hands.

To the village, the disaster far overshadowed that of the Vestris. The lifeboat contained at least one man from every family in the village, and the entire crews of the last four fishing boals, survivors of a fleet that once made Rye

Making even more bitter the grief of Making even more bitter the grief of the village was the fact that the life-boat's errand of mercy was futile. The crew of the crippled Alice, a Riga steamer, had been removed to safety aboard the Hamburg steamer Smyrna five minutes before the lifeboat pushed out into the stormy channel.

The lifeboat capsized when it struck the sands at Camber as it returned from the wrecked hull of the Alice.

Women and Children Watch. A group of women and children hud-died together on the beach saw a huge wave srike the boat. The fishermen pulled their craft through, but again and again the breakers swept over them. A few minutes later the watchand again the breakers swept over them. A few minutes later the watch-ers or shore could see the boat no

All life-saving apparatus was spread All life-saving apparatus was spread out along the coast at Jurys Gut and Denge Marsh and Galloway. Life lines were carried near the breaking waves, but the boat failed to show again.

Hours later it was washed ashore. The bodies of two men were found beneath it. Waves washed ten more bodies to the sands at Jurys Gut. Five others of the seventeen were still missing tonight.

And as wives and indicated the beach southeast, who was awarded $2.50 at Rye tonight gave up their last ray gold. Tonight the ladies will ag of hope, reports from along the Eng-have their filing. A rolling pin throw lish Channel indicated the storm had been of wide proportions. At least four vessels were battered and crippled by the gale and one sank at Brest.

Two Boys Kidnap, Then Beat Infant

Baby Found Stuffed in Ashcan With Her Skull Fractured.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 15 (United Press).—Two 4-year-old boys today kidnaped and beat a 6-month-old baby girl, whose mother had left her in her baby carriage on the sidewalk. The baby was found stuffed in an ash can, her skull fractured and her body covered with bruises. She may die, physicians said. The two boys could not be held by police. The age of reason, the earliest at which the law recognizes the possibility of conscious crime, is T years.

Astronomers Scan Sky For Meteoric Display

Astronomers at the Naval Observa-

Astronomers at the Naval Observatory were scanning the sky shortly after last midnight to view the annual meteor display caused when the earth moves into the astral region of the Leonid meteors. The result of their observations would not be known for several hours, it was said.

The Leonid group, according to astronomers, whirls around the sun orbit that crosses the earth's. Each November the orbits meet, causing the display of meteorites as they speed through space and strike the earth's atmosphere, where they are generally burned out before they hit the earth.

Improvement in the farm real estate situation was noted yesterday by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture in its annual survey of the farm lands market for the period ending March 1, 1928.

Farm real estate values during the year for the entire country, the report continued, showed "the smallest decline recorded in any single year since the drastic postwar deflation set in." Values of improved farm lands per acre declined 2 per cent, compared with a decline of 4 per cent for the previous Business Jam.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa, announced here yesterday that he would make at earnest effort at the short session of Congress to have the Welch act reports paid employes.

Brookhart, a member of the civil service committee, made a sfight for a more liberal Welch bill at the last session, giving in only after he was told that it was a case of passing the employes to lose a pay raise altogether.

Brookhart pointed out yesterday that many of the Government workers failed to get the raise that Congress intended them to get. While he pladged himself to fight for them at the forthcoming short session, he said it might be difficult to get action on account of the press of other business.

He had returned home, and later decided to go out for a paper. He told the police that one man approached him from the front and another from the rear with the gun. The former relieved him of $74 in bills.

The robbers told him to walk The fobbers told him to walk straight down the street and not to look back. This he did until he came to a drug store, where he entered and atempted to phone the police. Police later said that he was too frightened to talk over the phone, and the druggist had to make the call. When police arrived, Boehm's said he was so frightened, he did not see what the men looked like.

Jurors Are Locked Up In Race Betting Case

Nearly 100 charges of housebreaking and grand larceny, involving property valued at between $5,000 and $10,000, were placed against six boys yesterday at the Fifth Precinct station, following three months' neighborhood looting in the southeast section.

Two of the boys are only 15 years old, while three of their companions are 16, and the eldest 17. They are William Lawrence Bushang, and Paul Leroy Hunt, age 15 years; William Byrd Campbell, Ferdinand Johansen and Louis E. Norton, age 16; and Mark Francis Colton, age 17. The latter is being held at the Fifth Precinct state on the strength of a description furnished by a southeast woman who saw a boy leaving the house of one of her neighbors.

Approximately $2,000 worth of the alleged loot already has been recovered, including about twenty watches, unmerous rings and other pieces of jewelry. Although police report that the boys told them that they sold some of their hauls for small amounts, it is believed by police that much of it is being held at the Fifth Precinct station, furnished on the strength of a description furnished by a southeast woman who saw a boy leaving the house of one of her neighbors.

Testimony in the trial concluded yesterday and the case will probably go to the jury Monday.

The theatre, Crandall testified, was built in accordance with plans made by Reginald W. Geare, architect, who committed suicide last year as the result of despondency over the disaster, and was approved by the District building inspector. The building contract, testimony shows, was given to Frank L. Wagner, a builder of high repute. Crandall testified that at no time since the opening of the theater, on October 12, 1917, until the disaster, was there any intimation of a defect in the building or danger in the operation of fans on the roof, which were installed by permission of the building inspector of the District before Crandall took over the theatre management.

Budget Bureau officials had "expressed some interest" in the published accounts. It was reported that budget officials had used the name of the President in forcing an explanation of the reports and an apology by District officials.

District Officials Explain.

Maj. Davison said that no one had been forced to "apologize." Col. Oethernann said that he had no further comment to make on the situation, and both he and Maj. Davison said that their ideas would be embodied in the reorganization plan which is under preparation for submission to the District Commissioners.

"We have no especial quarrel with the Budget Bureau officials." they said. "They, have a certain total and they hold the District to that total. If you think that system is wrong, that's another matter."

The reorganization plan which is being worked out provides for the division of inspection work among inspectors, according to the section needed and not as is now done, according to the section needed and not as is now done, according to the section needed and not as is now done, according to the section of the city in which he job to be inspected is done.

Another question which is to come up for decision is how to revise the present scheme under which builders employ inspectors and pay them out of their own pockets. It has been suggested that a plan be worked out whereby all inspectors will be employed by the District and costs assessed against the operations inspected.

in the annual report of Fred Brink-man, the Grange's representative here. The report, setting forth the reasons for opposition, was read at yesterday's President's Cabinet.

The Grange takes the position that the creation of such a department would, step by step, result in the nationalization of the public school system, depriving communities of the right of supervision and unnecessarily increasing the cost of education. Brinkman points out that every State already has a superintendent or compared to the communities of the cost of education. already has a superintendent or missioner of education.

No Appropriation in Bill.

Lady Heath Will Fly Own Plane to Capital

Lady Heath, British sportwoman and holder of the women's solo flight and altitude records, will fly her own plans from New York to Washington within a few days, according to a letter received from her yesterday by Clem W. Gersen, manager of the Cariton Hotel. She said she would advise Gersen of the details of her plans later.

Lady Heath, the former Mrs. Elliott Lynn, reached the United States last week and announced she would make an airplane tour of the United States with a view to inducing American women to take a more practical interest in flying. She plans to make the tour in a Gypsy Moth plane, the same type of ship with which she established ar altitude record of 24,000 feet for light planes at the Croydon Airdome last month.
